

THE CHINOOK ADVANCE

Vol. 22

Chinook, Alberta. Thursday, Dec. 10th, 1942

ALBERTA PROVINCIAL LIBRARY
DEC 14 1942

The Ladies' Card Club Met Tuesday Evening

The Ladies' Card Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Targett. Honors were shared by Miss Florence Barros and Mrs. Robinson. The Club will meet next week at the home of Mrs. Robinson.

Ruth Bangs entertained a few of her little friends at her seventh birthday party on Tuesday afternoon.

Patsy Gallaugher entertained a few of her friends at her sixth birthday party. Games were played, then lunch was served.

Mr. Geo. M. Aitken was a Calgary week end visitor returning Tuesday.

Mrs. E. C. Pfeiffer and daughter Maxine were Calgary visitors last week end.

Mrs. P. Peterson returned on Tuesday from Calgary after having visited with friends in that city.

Mr. Ethan Hagey left this week for Preston, Ontario, where he will spend Christmas and the winter months with and other relatives.

Mr. Sam Squire will be living on Ethan Hagey's farm during his absence.

ANKER OSTERUD SENDS THANKS

To the members of the Chinook Red Cross I wish to convey my heartfelt thanks for lovely large Christmas parcel and greeting, everything arrived as declared and so nicely packed. It surely brought Christmas cheer and old memories of dear friends.

Hope this gets to Chinook in time to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

From your friend
Anker Osterud
M100339, No. 2 C.D.I.R.U.

WEDDING BELLS

Lee - Zawasky

The parlors of Central United Church were banked with fern on November 27 in setting for the ceremony in which Olga Myrna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Zawasky of Chinook, became the bride of Mr. Jack D. Lee elder son of Mrs. W. S. Lee and the late Mr. Lee of Chinook.

Rev. C. E. Lawson officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white sheer fashioned on princess lines and embroidered with gold sequins. She wore a long veil held in place with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of deep pink Briarcliffe roses.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Emily, dressed in forget-me-not blue taffeta. She carried a bouquet of Virginia carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Bruce Hutchison, also of Chinook.

Miss Peggy Lawrence sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Empress Hotel Brentwood room, where the bridal couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Zawasky, mother of the bride; and Mrs. Lee, mother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Zawasky wore a dress of black with a corsage of Better Times roses. Mrs. Lee was gowned in teal green crepe and wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride's table was centred with a tiered wedding cake, flanked by tall tapers.

Among the out-of-town guests at the reception were Miss Lena Zawasky; Mr. Gordon Wilson of Chinook; Mrs. Smigelski, of Benton, and Mrs. Eyrchuk of Meringo, Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee has the best wishes for their future happiness and prosperity, of their many Chinook friends.

They will reside in Chinook.

Special For The Week

Nabob Coffee	lb.	50c
Broder's Peas & Carrots	2 tins	30c
Choice Quality Tomatoes	2 tins	29c
Pancake Flour	pkt.	35c
Raymore Sweet Pickles	jar	33c
Free Running Salt	2 pkgs.	19c
Cherub Milk	3 tins	29c
Johnson's Glo-Coat	tin	59c
Real Buy -- "Thrift Soap Flakes"		49c

We Have a Selection of Xmas Items On Display. Toys, Dishes, Dolls, Pyrex, etc. Come In and See Them, Early.

BANNER HARDWARE AND GROCERY

IMPORTANT ORDER REPAIRS NOW

Check All Your Farm Equipment Because Repair Parts are difficult to get and getting more difficult as time goes on. If you leave your ordering until spring, chances are you will be disappointed.

DON'T DELAY
Ask Your Dealer For
I. H. C. & John Deere

COOLEY BROS.

Chinook, Alta.

Phone 10

CHINOOK MEAT MARKET TURKEYS

We are cash buyers of all Poultry.

This is the time to bring in Your Turkeys

J. C. Bayley
Proprietor

ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE AIR CREW

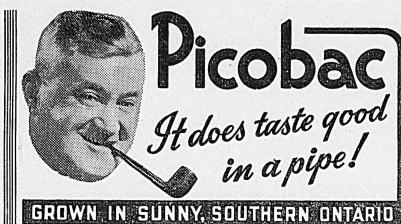

For illustrated booklet giving full information write: Director of Manning, R.C.A.F., Jackson Building, Ottawa, or the nearest of these R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centres: Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Winnipeg, North Bay, Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, Moncton, Halifax.

FROM
BANKS • POST OFFICES
DEPARTMENT STORES • DRUGSTORES
OFFICERS • TOBACCONISTS
BOOK STORES and other RETAIL STORES

225

The Canadian Navy

"NAVY WEEK" sponsored by the Navy League of Canada, in co-operation with the Department of Naval Services, was observed in Canada a short time ago. The purpose of this was, in the words of the president, D. H. Gibson, "to bring before all Canadians the vital importance to the British Empire of the maintenance of naval supremacy, upon which depends its trade, Empire and national existence; and of proclaiming the tremendous contribution which the personnel of the Canadian Navy and the merchant ships are now making in this titanic conflict of right over might." At this time, many interesting facts concerning Canada's sea power were brought before the public by the Navy League. At no time since the outbreak of war has there been any doubt as to the importance of the navy in the conflict. The movement of troops and supplies to the many fighting fronts has been successfully accomplished in spite of tremendous enemy opposition, and it is known to us, and to the enemy, that there will be no Axis victory as long as the ships of the Allied nations freely ride the seas.

Figures Are Of Interest Figures published by the Navy League show that great expansion has taken place in the Canadian navy since the beginning of the war. At that time, Canada had only eleven fighting ships and less than eighteen hundred men. Now it consists of more than three hundred ships and over forty thousand men. In addition, our merchant navy has expanded greatly and is playing a most important part in carrying supplies to Britain and to the fighting fronts, and in bringing essential supplies back to Canada. This great increase in the numbers of both our fighting and merchant ships has involved much expansion in the Canadian shipbuilding industry. It is estimated that there are now more than forty thousand workers employed in building ships and that this is the largest single industry operating in Canada at the present time. While it is estimated that our navy is now twenty times as strong as it was when the war began, still greater expansion is planned, and as long as the war lasts it will continue to grow in size and power.

Lengthy Routes Are Protected Something of the tremendous tasks undertaken by the navy are emphasized by reviewing the length of the routes our ships travel and protect. The coasts of Canada on the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans, total some twelve thousand miles. The enemy is in both these oceans and constant vigilance by the navy in all these coastal waters is essential. In addition our navy has taken its place with the other free nations in protecting the long routes to the fighting fronts. From Halifax to Liverpool, the distance is three thousand miles; from Halifax to Alexandria, in Egypt, it is four thousand five hundred miles; from Halifax to the port of Murmansk, in Russia, it is over four thousand miles; and from Vancouver to Melbourne, Australia, it is over seven thousand three hundred miles. Canadian ships operate in all these waters and have added many chapters to the already glorious history of our navy. The sailors who man these ships are from all parts of Canada; many of them are from the Prairies. To all of them we owe gratitude and admiration for helping to make our navy an important part of the great plan for victory for the United Nations.

The King Understands

That Mothers Attending Investments Sometimes Have To Bring Children

In the dignified quiet of the Grand Hall at Buckingham Palace a pierce cry occasionally shrills above the soft background music of the Guards' strict band as the King decorates men and women at an Investiture.

It is the protest of some hero's baby, thoroughly bored with its first Royal ceremonial. Mother and child have to be escorted out to an anteroom by officials of the Lord Chamberlain while the infant is comforted. Because such incidents jolt the smooth ritual of Court ceremonial, responsible officials suggested to the King a rule forbidding babies in arms and young children.

But the King, knowing the difficulties of not-well-off mothers, who perhaps have nowhere to leave their children, refused his sanction to the complete ban, sagely offered instead "suggestion" that babies are not "encouraged" at Investitures, leaving it possible for mothers to bring their children when necessary, though reducing the probable number of future squawks.—British News-Review.

Jamaica is at present the sole source of pimento or allspice.

Ants As Miners

Garnets Taken From The Soil Of New Mexico

Ants have mined garnets and peridots in New Mexico for centuries, according to Prof. Stuart A. Northrop of the University of New Mexico.

Northrop, head of the university's department of geology, said the ants, which work down through the volcanic soil of the region, sometimes bring up stones worth from $50 to $100 as gems.

Some of the finest garnets in the world have been collected from ant hills near Fort Defiance on the Navajo Indian reservation, the professor said. Fine gem peridots also have come from this region, Northrop said.

THE CAP MUST FIT

According to the Pathfinder, Premier Vidkun Quisling has forbidden Norwegian congregations to sing the Lutheran hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," according to Norwegian sources in London. Reason: It contains the line "and were the world with devils filled, all watching to devour us." Norwegians, Quisling and his masters feel, have some particular persons in mind when they sing this line.

To meet the increasing demand for junior officers for Canada's expanding Active Army two temporary officers' training centres have been established, National Defence Headquarters has announced. Both have started, one at Three Rivers, Quebec and the other at Camp Borden, Ontario. While the training will be identical with that given at Guelph, Ont., and Gordon Head, B.C., the new centres will only serve as temporary facilities pending completion of projected expansion of accommodations at the two regular centres. Infantry candidates will train at Three Rivers under a staff headed by Lieut.-Col. W. W. Mathers, while the Camp Borden school will specialize in instruction for Canadian Armored Corps officers. Chief instructor will be Major W. E. Dunbar.

Lether-clad officers' canes were presented by Lieut.-General Kenneth Stuart, Chief of the General Staff at St. Jerome, Quebec, recently when a class of 131 candidates for the Brockville C.O.T.C. graduated from the Basic Training Centre at St. Jerome. General Stuart urged the embryonic officers to study the characters and habits of their troops thoroughly as it was a great privilege to lead men.

The Canadian School of Army Administration has been transferred from L'Estrel, Quebec, to Kempton, (Ont.) Agricultural School where 1,300 administrative personnel can be trained annually.

The No. 1 Canadian Army Course, University of Toronto, has started with 160 students taking a one-year course in the fundamentals of mathematics, physics and engineering. Object of the course is to give potential officer material partial university training and thus introduce into the Army more officers to the technical arms than could otherwise be the case.

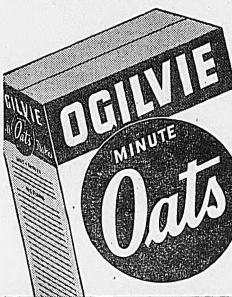

His Majesty the King has graciously consented to be Colonel-in-Chief of the Canadian Army Cadets and has also given his approval that they be known as the Royal Canadian Army Cadets, the Hon. J. L. Balston, Minister of National Defence has announced. The Minister pointed out that the honor which the King accorded the cadets demonstrated how important is the youth of Canada. The Royal consent amplifies the recent announcement of the re-organization and expansion of the cadet movement under the leadership of Col. C. G. M. Grier, Director of Cadets. Arrangements are being made for uniforms and for elementary military training stressing citizenship, civilian protection, health education, physical training, music, reading, radio and other valuable subjects. Junior cadets will be from 12 to 14 years of age and seniors must be 15 years of age as of Sept. 1 of the current school year.

The Veteran Guard of Canada, now engaged in an extensive recruiting campaign, needs men for overseas service as more will be sent from Canada for special duties. The age limit on recruits has been raised from 50 to 55 years and only those who served in the services from 1914 to 1918 will be accepted, providing they are medically fit.

The Men's Club of West Point United Church, Vancouver, B.C., is sponsoring a monthly Newsletter, which is mimeographed and mailed to 120 members of the congregation overseas. Brig. J. Logie Armstrong, O.B.E., District Officer Commanding M.D. 3, Kingston, is a full-fledged Indian Chief. He was recently invested with the Mississauga Tribe's head dress by Chief Dan Whetstone of the Curve Lake Indian Reserve, Peterboro. The brigadier was given the title "Kee-cheke-mong," which means "Leader of the Chiefs and of the Brave." Between 20,000 and 22,000 tons of coal will be required to heat the 500 separate buildings of Petawawa Military Camp during the forthcoming winter and plans are under way for a conversion of fuels by proper firing, insulation and cleaning and maintenance of heating equipment.

The word Jehovah occurs nearly 7,000 times in the Old Testament.

Phoenicians were the first import-ant commercial seafarers.

THE OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS COMPANY LIMITED

If it's 'Ogilvie'—it's good!

GEMS OF THOUGHT

"CONFIDENT TOMORROWS"

True religion shows its influence in every part of our conduct; it is like the sap of a living tree, which penetrates the most distant boughs.—William Penn.

He who believes in goodness has the essence of all faith. He is a man of cheerful yesterdays and confident tomorrows.—J. F. Clarke.

Religion is not a way of looking at certain things.

But a certain way of looking at all things—Anon.

Your daily duties are a part of your religious life just as much as your devotion—Becher.

A radiant sunset, beautiful as blessings when they take their flight dilates and kindles into rest. Thus will a life corrected illumine its own atmosphere with spiritual glow and understanding.—Mary Baker Eddy.

If your whole life is guided by religion, the hearts of others may be touched by this mute language, and may open to the reception of that spirit which dwells in you.—Schleiermacher.

Banana oil is not made from bananas or any fruit. It is one of the hundreds of products obtained from coal tar.

Hurt To Their Pride

When Japanese Suffer Defeat It Is Hard To Take

Japanese are a naively proud people, who consider themselves invincible. They have never been defeated, they tell themselves; hence, they cannot be defeated. Defeat is inadmissible. For them, there can be no such thing. Thus, the Coral Sea and Midway battles were hard for them to take. It was not only the ships they lost there, but the hurt to their pride. Pride, "face," as it is called in Eastern Asia, is the same, to them, as honor. It must be maintained, at any cost. So the Sōdōmons have to be retaken. The despised Yankee must be driven out of Guadalcanal, or a shame will rankle in every Japanese heart.—Chicago Daily News.

There are about 20,000 species of birds known today.

Relieves distress from MONTHLY FEMALE WEAKNESS

Louise B. Pinckham's Vegetable Compound not only helps relieve monthly pain but also weak, nervous, tired, listless, and irritable conditions. It helps build up the system and is a tonic for "difficult days." Made in Canada.

tantalizing satisfying

Flavour
... but so elusive

SELECTED RECIPES

BANANA LOAF

2 eggs
2½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 cup Mazola
1½ cup mashed bananas
1½ cup whole wheat flour
1½ cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped peanuts (optional)
½ cup raisins

Temperature: 350 degrees F.

Time: 1½ hours
Method: Put eggs, corn syrup, mazola, and mashed bananas into bowl. Mix thoroughly with wooden spoon. Add whole wheat flour, sifted dry ingredients and peanuts, (optional). Add sour milk; stir lightly but do not beat. Pour into loaf pan 9" x 5" x 3". Cover with waxed paper and bake with mazola. Bake in moderate oven.

CORN FLAKE MACAROONS

2 eggs whites

1 cup powdered or granulated sugar

½ teaspoon vanilla extract

2 cups corn flakes

1 cup shortening

1 cup white chocolate chips

Boil eggs whites until stiff but not dry. Fold in sugar; add flavouring, corn flakes, nuts and coconut. Mix carefully. Drop by spoonfuls on well-greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 15 to 20 minutes. Remove immediately from pan. If macaroons stick, place pan on damp towel and remove macaroons using spatula or sharp knife. If chocolate chips become hardened to pan, they may be softened to oven for a few minutes to soften.

Yield: 1½ dozen macaroons (two inches in diameter).

PLASTIC SEALS LEAKS

Leaks in sinking lifeboats can be plugged as soon as they occur with a new plastic after kneading it briefly in the hands. The plastic has a binding effect, setting and hardening in water. Lifeboats in the British Merchant Service have been equipped with the pliant substance, and it is expected to prove useful in pontoons also.

WHEN THAT DELICIOUS ROAST BEGINS TO COOL ... THEN FLAVOUR AND MOISTURE STEALTHILY SLIP AWAY.

KEEP THAT FLAVOUR AND MOISTURE IN YOUR MEATS ... BY WRAPPING THEM IN

Para-Sani

HEAVY
WAXED PAPER
IN THE GREEN BOX

Appleford PAPER PRODUCTS LIMITED

HAMILTON · TORONTO · MONTREAL

A Delightful Beverage

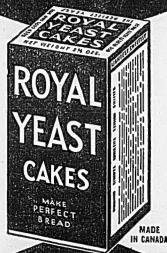

Have you tried Postum yet? With each successive cup, Postum's robust, satisfying flavor seems more delicious. It's easily made, requires less sugar, and is very economical. And because Postum contains neither caffeine nor tannin it's a safe beverage for everyone.

4 OZ. SIZE MAKES 50 CUPS . . . 8 OZ. SIZE MAKES 100 CUPS

P262

JUST 2¢ PER
CAKE
INSURES
DELICIOUS
BAKING

FULL STRENGTH
...DEPENDABLE
IN THE AIRTIGHT
WRAPPER

HALFWAY HOUSE
— BY —
MICHAEL TRENT

CHAPTER IX.

The cocktail glass slipped from Eric's fingers, shattered neatly against the floor, and Anne was almost unaware of it. Nor was she really aware that card-playing and conversation had ceased while people looked toward the commotion. Only the cards moved, and then only slowly. Steve, Rhea, Marshall, Anne, Lowry, Steve and the dark girl faced one another, while Anne stared at them both. She moved slowly, like a dazed person, and Steve, too, was shocked. The cards were stabled there; her face was dark, stiff, in character with the low sharpness of his voice.

He said, "You haven't changed at all, Rhea. You're still full of surprises."

The girl airily replied, "That's right, darling. I haven't changed at all." Her tone gave the words a world of meaning, saying, "Look at me. You still like me as ever. She was still smiling.

Anne's world seemed to crash about her. She felt weak and dim, afraid to speak or to support. She said, "I can't endure this!" Yet she had the strength to move away. Then Margaret Leland came from her bridgeplaying, looking angry now instead of bored, and Anne's heart, apparently was meant to be a restraining hand on Steve Hayes' arm.

"Hello, Stephen. I guess you knew this had to happen." Her voice kept free of her anger. "And since it's happened, you'll have to work it out."

"This is more of your doings, Mrs. Leland?"

"No. This time I'm not interfering. The two will have to do your own planning. It's your life to live, not mine."

"I suppose you're right," Steve Hayes said. He turned back to Rhea, took a few steps, and then said, "Sorry for you," she said. "I could see you were in love with him, but there seemed no way to keep you from being hurt."

"I never knew never imagined," Anne chided him.

"We were married four years ago," Margaret Leland told her.

Eric Kruger, alias Mr. John Blake, had been watching the little drama from the height of the room. Since he had not said a word, what was said was, it was all a bewilderment pantomime. He waited until the so obviously wealthy Mrs. Leland left Anne, then he rose and went to where Anne still sat at the bar. He was puzzled and astounded by the shocked look in her eyes.

"This rain," he said, meaning to distract her. "Will it never end?" His voice was low-pitched, for her ears alone. "I am in haste to go. I feel like a gopher."

His words made a slow impression upon Anne's dazed mind. She looked at him uncertainly. For once Eric Kruger's presence and his desire to leave had not been welcome. She waited him go behind the bar, and begin making a drink, two drinks, and after a moment or two he pressed a glass into her hand. He lifted his glass.

"A toast," he said. "To my luck in traveling."

"Eric—" she began.

"Drink to me, Anne. Or don't you wish me luck?"

She knew what he was attempting; this was meant to relieve her mind of shock. Strangely, it succeeded. She thought, "This isn't tragedy—only farce. I'll laugh at it—only make fun of myself to herself, sit the cocktail. Eric drink and pretend to smack his lips."

"Ah, I have missed my calling," he said. "I should have been a bartender instead of a flir." He regarded her anxiously. "You feel better?"

"A little," Anne said, and set down the drink. He came and took her arm, led her to a settee in another corner. He sat beside her and held her hand. Her fingers, cold and glassy, against the window behind him. Eric leaned toward her, his shoulder touching hers, and somehow, all in a moment, he had become again the good friend of the past.

"I'm sorry," he said. "Was it so very bad?"

"That is her wife, Eric—his wife!" "That is why she is here. I have wondered. This is no place for a woman like her. Only a man would have brought her. I did not want to see her."

"No. But perhaps I should have." She put her head back and closed her eyes. "Yes, she should have appeared. Last night at the party, Bill McLean giving her a hint. Steve was embarrassed, guilty. And what had Steve said when they found themselves in love? 'We have to talk about it soon.' Steve had not talked with her then, but she had been blinded by the false brightness of their love.

"Why did he do that to me, Eric—why?" Anne was often brutal. Anne, "You aren't too often brutal, Anne."

"Not you, Eric. You didn't have to do that, Anne."

He laughed softly. "Next you will have me think play the girl again. 'No, we are all alike.' When we fall in love, we want the girl no matter what the rules." His hands closed with a hard pressure on her. "And I want you, Anne. I want you to follow me to Venezuela."

His voice broke, his eyes left Anne, a dark intentness came to his face. She saw him, and saw Steve Hayes coming across the room. She tried to rise, but he held her a man without meaning for her, merely as a handsome man in uniform, but that didn't work. Seeing him made her want to cry. He halted before her, ignoring Steve, who got up. "Anne, I owe you an explanation," he said. "Will you listen to me alone?"

"An explanation is necessary," Steve said, heard her voice say. "I think I understand—everything. Good-bye."

"I'm afraid I must insist." His voice roughened, he tried to speak to this before—she was to leave him. "I want you to stay with me, Anne. I want to see you to Venezuela."

His voice broke, his eyes left Anne, a dark intentness came to his face. She saw him, and saw Steve Hayes coming across the room. She tried to rise, but he held her a man without meaning for her, merely as a handsome man in uniform, but that didn't work. Seeing him made her want to cry. He halted before her, ignoring Steve, who got up. "Anne, I owe you an explanation," he said. "Will you listen to me alone?"

"An explanation is necessary," Steve said, heard her voice say. "I think I understand—everything. Good-bye."

"I'm afraid I must insist."

His voice roughened, he tried to speak to this before—she was to leave him. "I want you to stay with me, Anne. I want to see you to Venezuela."

She had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I didn't notice when we met before, Mr. Blake," Steve said, "that your English is a bit—careful."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I didn't notice when we met before, Mr. Blake," Steve said, "that your English is a bit—careful."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Anne had risen, now stood at Eric's side. She saw how square-jawed and angry he was. She saw that Steve was losing his temper; but before Steve's anger got the better of him, there seemed also a sudden weary that showed in his narrowed gray eyes.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Blake. I have lived most of my life away from the States. My work—and my father's work—keep me in South America. I speak Spanish and Portuguese as well as English."

Chinook Advance

Printed and published at Chinook on Thursday of each week. $1.00 per copy, rates $1.00 a year ($2.00 a year in Canada). $1.00 payable in advance.
Mr. M. C. Nicholson
Publisher and Proprietor.

NOTHING MATTERS NOW
but...

RESTAURANT

Meals at all hours

All Kinds Tobacco
and Cigarettes
OFT DRINK and Confectionary

ICE CREAM

Mah Bros

For DRAYING
Or TRUCKING
Any Kind
Satisfaction
Guaranteed
ROBINSON
CARTAGE

Dr. K. W. Neary, Director, Agricultural Department, North-West Grain Elevators Association

Germination Tests and Dormancy
Two years ago, in an attempt to work out a more effective temperature control and invited farmers to submit samples of their small grain seeds for testing. Nearly 6,000 farm seed samples were tested. Last year, 10,000 samples passed through our laboratory.

What may be expected of us this year? We expect to be taxed. We shall do our best to tax all demands, but take this opportunity to urge farmers to bring their seed samples to grain exchanges for testing, to get the most accurate information so as to help us to spread the work over a long period. We are certain to be taxed so as to be applied to the limit in February and March.

Last fall we announced the installation of a refrigerating pre-chiller. The purpose of this was to enable us to begin testing early without fear of underestimating the germination percentage as a result of dormancy.
Samples as we have explained before, are tested in a cold room and germinating very poorly in the autumn and gradually improving toward spring.

It is known that the germinated seeds at a temperature of 40°F. for three days (pre-chilling), the dormancy can be broken. To make sure of our samples, we do the job well, we tested 24 samples in November with and without pre-chilling. Then the following day, in December, we tested the same 24 samples again in the same cold room. November pre-chilled, 80%;
November, not pre-chilled, 45%;
December, not pre-chilled, 98 per cent and December, pre-chilled, 95 per cent.
Thus, we pre-chilling enabled us to get accurate results in November which would otherwise only have been obtained the following spring.

Chinook United Church

Rev. R. W. French, B. A.
Service will be held in the United Church every Sunday
11:45 a.m.
Sunday School 10:30

Serve Canada! AT HOME OR ABROAD

Men of 30, 40, 50

PEP, VIM, VIGOR, Subnormal?
Want normal pep, vim, vigor, vitality?
Want to feel good? Want to feel normal? Stimulants, oyster elements aids to normal pep after 30, 40 or 50 years? Want to feel good? Want to feel normal? Try this aid to normal pep and vim today. For sale at all good drug stores

CHARIVARI

Post War Facts

A group of Chinook friends of the bride and groom gathered at the Lee home when all sort of noise makers were used.
After entering the home all were treated by Mr. and Mrs.
Lee. After games of different kinds were played, a good lunch was served.

At midnight all left reporting having had a good time.

APPLICATION FOR
BEER LICENSETHE GOVERNMENT LIQUOR
CONTROL ACT OF ALBERTA

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned intends to apply to The Alberta Liquor Control Board for a License to sell Beer by the glass or open bottle, for consumption on the licensed portion of the premises, and also to sell Beer by the unopened bottle for consumption elsewhere than upon the licensed premises, in conformity with the provisions of the Government Liquor Control Act of Alberta and the regulations made thereunder, with reference to the following described premises.

Beer Salesroom in the Northeast corner of the ground floor of the Chinook Hotel, situated on Lot 1 and 2 Block 4, Plan 2231 P. A. Chinook, Alberta.

Dated at Chinook, Alberta this twenty-fifth November A. D.

John Henry Ottling

MADE IN CANADA
Full Strength
Dependable
In the Airtight
Wrapper

CHRISTMAS
GREETING CARDS

We have just received a shipment of beautiful
CHRISTMAS
GREETING CARDS
and at an exceptionally low price.

CHINOOK ADVANCE

TODAY'S FEATURE RACE...

Are you "in" on the biggest race in history?
When you've read how simple it is to enter . . . you will. The race to supply "Arms" to the fighting forces is a long and expensive one . . . requiring various sacrifices . . . Some have given up home, business and even life. Enter now by sacrificing your old routine of spending on unnecessary luxuries . . . Put this saving into Stamps every week—"Come on Canada"!

Buy -
WAR SAVINGS STAMPS
Every Week!

SPACE DONATED BY THE BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

BE SURE THAT YOU GET THE FULL
BENEFIT OF THESE REDUCTIONS

SPECIAL NOTICE TO RETAILERS:

Retailers will be compensated for any loss or present stocks—in order that these reductions may be enjoyed by the public immediately. Retailers should take inventory of their floor stocks of tea and coffee as of the close of business, Saturday, December 11th. They will shortly receive forms upon which to make their claims for compensation for losses on inventory due to these price reductions.

THE WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD